Bhatler College Journal of Multidisciplinary Studies has been conceived of as a digital platform of scholars of different disciplines from various parts of the world for discussing and analysing issues/topics/themes/concerns from multidisciplinary perspectives. With full conviction in Open Access Philosophy, it is going to be an open access journal available free of cost from any part of the world.

Objectives

We understand that it is going to be a humble beginning. We have set the following objectives for the journal:

- To enter the global debates for certain issues which affect mankind;
- To utilise the online communication tools for establishing connection with the global readership;
- To recognise the online digital media as a space for creative and critical expression of the future;
- To experiment with the online platform and tools so that a journal from each department can be started.

Peer Review

All the contents of the journal go through double blind peer review process.

Languages

Keeping in mind the global phenomena of the crisis of the indigenous languages, the journal is a bilingual one. Contents are published in English and Bengali.
